bor Soon After 11.*CITY TAKES HOLIDAY*General Patrick, Chief of the Army Air Service, Heads Squadron of Planes Ready to Go to Meet Aviators When Radio Flashes Approach.

By United Press.
ALBERT, N. S., Sept. 5.—Flying steadily southward towards Boston, the United States Army world fliers passed Brunswick at 2 P. M. Eastern daylight saving time today. An American cruiser was observed off Point Lepreau, New Brunswick, apparently watching for the airmen.

ST. JOHN'S, N. S., Sept. 5.—The American world fliers passed over St. John's Harbor at 1:50 daylight saving time. The planes dropped low as they sped over the city and continued down the coast.

PICTOU, N. S., Sept. 5.—America's around-the-world fliers are winging their way southward on the jump that will bring them to home shores. The takeoff from Pictou was at 11:17, eastern daylight time, this morning. They are due late today at Boston.

Lieuts. Lowell Smith and Eric Nelson were accompanied on the flight by Lieutenant Leigh Wade, whose original plane sank off the Faroe Islands. Lieutenant Wade flew a plane sent to him here.

Smith and Nelson were the first to take the air, rising from the water at 11:17 and circling over the bay for the long flight to Boston. Lieutenant Wade was having trouble with his plane and for a time taxied back and forth.

The Boston II, piloted by Lieutenant Wade, had considerable difficulty in getting off the water because of the calm and finally taxied out to the entrance of the harbor, taking the air as she reached the open sea opposite Pictou Light House.

The destroyer Barry, which had been standing by, immediately picked up the plane's anchor buoy and raced out to sea after them. The weather was very hazy and land watchers lost sight of the planes as they passed out of the harbor.

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—Boston declared a virtual holiday today in welcome to the world fliers. Both parties to their homeland.

Thousands of visitors began pouring into the city in the early morning and there was general exodus toward the airport where the heroes are expected about mid-afternoon.

As word is flashed in by radio from the ship stations that the planes are drawing near an air squadron, headed by General Patrick, chief of the Air Service, will pour out to meet them, picking up the globe-circling planes about three miles off the city.

One of the planes, a Curtiss pursuit speedster, piloted by Lieutenant Moffatt, will fly back to Boston at high speed as soon as the world airmen are sighted, to notify the public that their arrival is at hand.

In addition to Major General Patrick the welcome fleet will include Assistant Secretary of War Davis, a radio plane to keep officials informed of the progress of the flight and a number of commercial machines with motion picture photographers.

On meeting the world fliers, probably near Old Orchard, Mr. General Patrick will welcome the fliers by a series of short "rooms." All the welcoming planes will then form in single file behind the air chief, with the world fliers in a separate formation on the right. When about 30 miles from the East Boston airport, General Patrick will increase speed, leading ahead of the fliers to prepare for the official welcome.

As the planes settle on the water and aircraft guns of Battery "A," Ninth Regiment, Coast Artillery, will roar out the Presidential salute of 21 guns and official ceremonies will follow.

250 Seventh Grade Students Assemble

About 250 of the 275 or 285 seventh grade students of the Connellsville schools reported at the Connellsville School this morning and went through the schedule to be followed out the remainder of the session. The class is divided into sections of approximately 35 students each.

Those entering the seventh grade and present this morning have not returned from summer vacations yet or had reported their absence to Superintendent H. B. Smith. With the seventh and eighth graders now instructed in their scholastic, school is ready for the Monday opening.

Wegley Given
25 to 50 Years
in Penitentiary

GREENSBURG, Sept. 5.—William S. Wegley, former attorney and president of the school board, who pleaded guilty yesterday to charges of embezzling funds of clients totaling $1,000,000, was sentenced by Judge Dom today to serve not less than 25 nor more than 50 years in the Western Penitentiary.

Wegley also was fined on 54 counts involving forgery and larceny. The fines totaled $11,048.

Before sentence was imposed, Wegley's lawyers made a plea for mercy, claiming that 15 years ago the defendant became involved in debts and in seeking to pay them made unwise investments. Wegley dealt principally in land mortgages.

In pronouncing sentence Judge Dom said that in view of the amount of money involved in Wegley's defalcations he could show no mercy.

ELIJAH ROBINSON IS FREED BY ORDER OF JUDGE VAN SWERINGEN

Elijah Robinson, charged with the murder of Constable Len Sutton of Fairchance last March 28, was set free by a jury on binding instructions from Judge J. Q. Van Sweringen, Thursday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock.

The case came to an unusually sudden termination. It was generally believed by court attaches the entire week would be consumed in its hearing.

Following the Commonwealth resting its case, Attorney H. S. Dumbauld, of counsel for the defense, moved the court to instruct the jury as a matter of law, that the proof produced by the Commonwealth was not sufficient to overcome the presumption of innocence and put the accused on his defense. The court granted the motion and addressed the jury before directing them to return a verdict of not guilty.

Judge Van Sweringen said it is a well known principle of law in criminal cases that before any defendant should be convicted of any offense, proof must be offered by the Commonwealth to show the guilt of the defendant beyond a reasonable doubt and if the proof produced did not reach that standard then the defendant should be acquitted.

A slander suit filed with Prothonotary Darrell W. Smiley was as follows: J. B. Bortz, plaintiff, and A. C. Horwitz, defendant. Both parties came from Connellsville. Bortz asks for $15,000 damages from Horwitz, who is alleged to have deprived Bortz of his good name by calling him a thief and a liar. In the papers filed Horwitz is accused of saying, "You are a thief and a robber, and that is the way you make your living."

More students to enter colleges.

Three more members of the graduating class of 1924 of the Connellsville High School have signified their intention of going to college this month.

They are: Martha Belle Buttermore, Margaret Morrison School for Girls of Carnegie Institute of Technology; Annurth Burr, to University of Pittsburgh; Donald LaRue, University of Michigan.

STILL COOLER IS FORECAST

With the low temperature of 54 degrees recorded last night the weather forecasters came out today with a prediction it would be still "slightly cooler tonight."

The cool today was accentuated by a driving rain which held on until morning. The skies cleared about noon, however. Fair weather Saturday is the forecast.

610 REPUBLICANS,
353 DEMOCRATS ON ROLLS FIRST DAY

Only Scattering of Progressives and American Are Registered.

GAIN OVER LAST YEAR

Fifth Ward Leads and is Only One to Pass the 900 Mark, With Total of 2181 Registered in Last Registration Date, October 4 is Final One.

Registration, taking a slow start yesterday morning, jumped forward during the afternoon and evening hours of the day and totals for the seven wards show 1,014 voters enrolled on the first day. To vote at the November election it is necessary to enroll. Two more days on which to do this remain, September 18 and October 4.

The enrollment yesterday exceeded the first-day registration of last year by 404.

Figures show the enrollment of Republicans was nearly two to one as compared with that of Democrats. There were 610 Republicans and 353 Democrats. These giving other party choices numbered 52. Those included 16 Progressives, 16 American party, nine non-partisan, five Socialists, three Prohibitionists and one independent.

There were 691 men registered as compared with 318 women. A year ago the Republican registration on the first day was 493 and the Democratic 265. Both parties had larger numbers listed yesterday.

The registrars generally repeated their request that on next registration day, everyone who conveniently can, be enrolled that day instead of waiting until the final date, when work is always so heavy that it exhausts them.

The enrollment by wards follows: First Ward—Republicans, 73; Democrats, 64; Non-partisan, 11; Independent, 1; Prohibition, 2; Progressive, 6; Socialist, 1; total, 174.

Second Ward—Republicans, 74; Democrats, 41; Progressives, 5; total, 120.

Third Ward—Republicans, 80; Democrats, 53; American, 1; Independent, 1; Prohibition, 2; Progressive, 6; Socialist, 1; total, 143.

Fourth Ward—Republicans, 87; Democrats, 62; American, 8; Progressive, 2; total, 159.

Fifth Ward—Republicans, 147; Democrats, 64; Non-partisan, 1; Progressive, 2; Socialist, 1; total, 215.

Sixth Ward—Republicans, 77; Democrats, 35; Non-partisan, 1; total, 113.

Seventh Ward—Republicans, 73; Democrats, 27; Non-partisan, 4; Prohibition, 1; total, 105.

The Fifth Ward had the heaviest registration with 215. It was the only ward to go over the 200 mark. The Third had 174, being second.

In the Fifth, Sixth and Seventh wards the Republicans scored big majorities over the Democrats, being two to one in the first two named and more than three to one in the Seventh. On the West Side only six persons gave their party choice as other than the Republican or Democratic.

MUCH NOISE BUT FEW CASUALTIES IN CHINESE FIGHTING

Loss of Life Reported Very Light After Great Ammunition Expenditure.

SHOCK TROOPS IN RESERVE

SHANGHAI, Sept. 5.—First class, well equipped troops were held today before Shanghai by both General Lu and General Chi, who are awaiting a decision from the British and French as to whether they will support the Chinese or the Japanese.

Although between 30,000 and 40,000 were engaged in an all-day struggle yesterday neither side gained materially and casualties were slight. Much ammunition was expended, with little loss of life.

Accurate news regarding the fighting was difficult to obtain because the belligerent generals refused to allow correspondents near the lines. The infantry engaged was equipped with old rifles and was not composed of fighting men of high caliber. The battle was first in the morning, followed by a lull, and then the forces of General Chi, and then the forces of General Lu, added by reinforcements, evened matters along the line from the Shanghai-Nanking railroad to the sea.

PEKING, China, Sept. 5.—President Peking officials declared today that the Peking government positively is not participating in the present struggle for Shanghai, but aims to establish peace. A letter believed to be from Chang Tso Lin, threatening intervention, was branded as a forgery. It is true a communication has been received from Chang but it contained no such threats. Peking is quiet, conditions normal.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

Attractive Books

One Mother Says: I make muslin books for my children by placing several pieces of cloth the same size directly on top of one another and stitching through the center. I fold them along the line of stitching and paste in colored pictures cut from old magazines. I can thus give them a fresh book frequently.

Justice With Force, Right With Might, Herriot's Program

GENEVA, Sept. 5.—Justice without force is ineffectual. Premier Herriot of France declared before the assembly of the League of Nations today. "We must combine right and might. We must make what is right, might and what is might right. It is necessary that force be justice and that justice be strong."

Herriot was continuing the League debate on security and disarmament begun yesterday by Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain. His word caused a stir and drew applause.

"Arbitration security and disarmament are inseparable," Premier Herriot said. "The League of Nations is the only organization that has pledged its support to 'help make peace for all, provided the force over justice was not relinquished.'"

Herriot's speech contrasted with Prime Minister MacDonald's. The British leader had been based more on idealism and international good will.

How quickly that rash disappeared!

THOUSANDS of users have attested to the quickness of the action of Resinol Ointment and Soap. The answer is that it is not a surface treatment, but one that reaches the depths of the pores and attacks the source of the disorder, starting the healing right.

The first touch relieves the itching, burning and soreness and a few days persistent use rarely fails to clear away the trouble.

When the skin is once restored to its normal condition, the daily use of Resinol Soap is generally sufficient to keep it healthy. Ideal for the complexion—unparalled for the bath and shampoo. Ask your druggist what he knows about the Resinol products.

—no acid in the battery until we fill it for you

Because Threaded Rubber Insulation can be used in its dry form, the new Willard Battery can be kept bone dry up to the very moment of its sale to the car owner.

And because charged plates are used, this battery needs only to be filled with acid to put it in service.

"See the point," says Little Ampere, "and see my boss do this. Here's a battery that can't get old before it's sold."

At the Theatres

The Paramount

WESTERN VENGEANCE—Featuring Franklyn Farnum and Marie Walcamp provides interesting entertainment today and tomorrow at the Paramount.

The story is said to be a splendid vehicle for Mr. Farnum's two-fold talents—providing as it does a perfect blend of action and romance. It deals with an attempt by a desperate gang to rob the mine of Jack Caldwell (Franklyn Farnum) through a secret tunnel dug from adjoining ranch. Jack manages to thwart their trickery but not however without dire consequences for his little sister is killed when the gang blows up the entrance to the tunnel and make their getaway. Then Jack and Mary Sterling his sweetheart make an oath of vengeance upon the child's murderers.

How these two finally come upon a clue to the culprit's identity, and the terrible discovery which follows brings the story to one of the most tense dramatic climaxes ever shown upon the silver screen—a climax calculated to thrill even the most hardened and habitual movie fans.

The Soisson

BEHOLD THE WOMAN—Is the feature picture today and tomorrow at the Soisson. It is a romance of movie land with Irene Rich, Marguerite de la Motte, Charles Fox and Harry Myers appearing in the stellar roles.

Louise Maupé, a popular star in the Hollywood colony, is motoring when her car breaks down. She accepts the hospitality of John Strangways, a wealthy railroadman, whose home is near John's farm. When her brother Stephen, a confirmed woman hater, Louie is the first woman that ever had set foot on the ranch house. John makes Louie welcome but Stephen shows his intolerance for women. Louie, whose beauty and charm had won her scores of admirers in Hollywood, is attracted to John and John who has no experience with women unconsciously loses his heart.

Louise continues her journey the next morning. Stephen has recognized Louie from magazine pictures as a motion picture actress and warns John against her. John goes to Hollywood and finds Louie in a studio and finally tells her that he has come to marry her. After he makes a huge mistake, a wealthy older and one of Louie's most devoted admirers, Eugene, jealous of John, is aroused and realizing that Louie admires him for his simplicity of character, the idle plots with of character. Louie's plot to bring about his downfall. Sophie, a friend of Louie's, blocks their first efforts. Calavera lures John to be one of the group of guests at his home in the mountains. When John arrives he learns that it is a trap and that he must spend the night alone with Calavera. John escapes her trillies and Calavera furious at having been outwitted sends a coupling the message to Stephen and Eugene. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Florence Vidor and Earle Williams will be seen in Borrowed Husbands.

The Orpheum

WANDERER OF THE WASTELAND—showing today and tomorrow at the Orpheum is a Paramount picture featuring Jack Holt and Kathryn Williams.

"Wanderer of the Wasteland" is different. It is the first full-length feature to be photographed entirely in color. And if that doesn't make it different, they've don't know the meaning of the word. Moreover, it's a real rival of the "Greatest Show on Earth" in the Grand Canyon. High praise is due to the man who is in the picture—Zane Grey's story is familiar to many but for those who have not read the book we will say that it is a story of a man who is driven out into the desert by an unjust persecution to become a wanderer and an outcast. The good that he does for others gives him the courage to come back to civilization and fight his own fight and win it. There is virtually every desirable feature in the picture—love, thrills, high drama, humor—now, honestly, what more does anybody want than that?

And to top it all there's a lip-top cast of popular players who actually seem to live the parts they play. Jack Holt achieves a great triumph in his vivid portrayal of the wanderer. Billie Dove has opportunity out of the ordinary for splendid acting and makes the most of them. Noah Beery again proves he is one of the best character actors on the screen and Kathryn Williams covers herself with dramatic glory.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Bebe Daniels, Mary Astor and Richard Dix will be seen in Unguarded Women.

Victor Rousseau

Mrs. Webb withdrew her hand and placed it upon one hip, bringing the latter into corresponding position. She glared at Joan, the convenient focus of her indignation.

"I never heard of such a thing!" she cried. "Who's dared to discharge you, Miss Wentworth? Why, it was only yesterday Miss Gray was saying you were the only one in the hospital that attended to her work instead of trying to make dates with the doctors. I've had the nurses two years now, Miss Wentworth, and they ain't a snap better than the salesladies I used to keep. A pack of featherheads! It some of them had been discharged 'twould serve them right. But not you, my dear. It's that old Doctor Lancaster!"

"It was, and I think he was right. I felt faint from the smell of ether—"

"Of course you did!" cried Mrs. Webb. "I always knew the day would come when you would. Those snails make my head go round and round whenever I take the short cut that side of the park. I always said you weren't cut out for that sort of work. It's all right for them strong-heeled girls that's made for it, but what you need is to marry some good man who can take care of you, not to go around a lot of dock-hands and seeing people's insides opened up. It's my belief that when the Lord put our insides inside and our outside outside he meant 'em to stay there," snorted Mrs. Webb.

"Well," said Joan wearily, "it's ended now. And I don't know what I'm going to do."

"But I say it isn't ended!" cried Mrs. Webb, concentrating all her indignation against Lancaster in a venomous stare at Joan. "It's only just begun. If that old Doctor Lancaster dares to discharge you, I'm going to tell everything I know about him. Miss Wentworth, that man's no more fit to be at the head of a hospital, with ladies under him, than he's fit to fly. What is he? Nothing but a fast liver and a common drunkard!"

"Never mind, Mrs. Webb!"

"But I do mind. To think of a man like that, who went about with a gang of common thugs for years, Miss Wentworth, just breaking away from his job and hobnobbing it up and down the country and then coming back and getting his job again and acting as he does! All that I say is common knowledge. Five years after the hospital had seen the last of him in his walks, as bold as brass, and puts the head doctor out, and says the hospital's his and he's going to run it again. And him being in charge of the nurses—him that runs round in his auto with every pack of cheap hussies that comes to Avonmouth! I know what they are! I haven't been in the boarding house business twenty years for nothing!"

Mrs. Webb was becoming incoherent. Joan succeeded in stopping the flow of vilification at last, mainly because Mrs. Webb had exhausted it.

"Now I tell you what you're going to do, my dear," she said. "You're going straight to that old Lancaster's house and you are going to ask for your place back. And you're going to get it too!"

"Mrs. Webb, how can I do that?"

"How can you do it? Why, you can manage him all right, my dear. You, I guess, 'tis going to be all right. I suppose he lost his temper. When a man leads the sort of life he does he hasn't much good humor left. He hasn't after. I know about that. You just go to him and act as if you didn't care much and let him think you look on him as just the finest man in the world."

"Please, Mrs. Webb!" expostulated Joan; and as she spoke there came back into her mind vividly the sinister smile of the dark-haired girl.

"You're only got to let him see your face, my dear," continued the landlady. "You see, it's this way. When he's in the hospital he's thinking about his work. A nurse is just a nurse to him then. But after his work's over she's different. Now don't tell me you can't make that man do anything you want him to, because I know better."

Jean crimsoned. "I couldn't think of such a thing," she protested.

"And why not? Inquired the other. "If you've got good looks, ain't you going to use them? It isn't as if I was asking you to do anything wrong, is it? You'd be a precious fool if you didn't. Any girl can twist a man round her finger, especially if she looks weepy."

Jean looked at Mrs. Webb in great distress. She rose, but the landlady followed her toward the door.

"You see, my dear," she went on, "if you were given that sort of face by the Almighty, why shouldn't you use it to get plain, common justice done you? It's your job that's at stake, and you all alone in the world. All you've got to do is to make him forget that he's dealing with a nurse. There isn't anybody would think twice about it. Didn't Amanda do it this morning, coming to me with her big black, honest face, and looking at me as that I had to take her back, as I was glad enough to do? You go straight and see that old Lancaster and try it, that's all!"

A nurse passed the window and came up the steps.

"Mrs. Webb, you won't say a word about what I've told you to the others, please?" asked Joan, staring herself down on her bed, slung her head toward the mantelpiece. The astrophe had swept her little, unbelieved world away. The sense of her loneliness swept over her like a black cloud, appalling her. She was cut off from life, and utterly helpless outside the medium in which she had lived.

Because she felt this sense of loneliness, her outraged pride began to vanish before the terrors that her imagination conjured up. Starvation, the ultimate horror of her childhood days on the estate, which like a living thing had gnawed into her mother's side hundred dollars, seemed incredibly real and near. She must ask for her position back.

She must face Lancaster in his house, humble her pride, and bow to him; but she watched the sun decline and the shadows lengthen, and for a time she could not bring herself to her task.

What strengthened her at last was the realization that her status must be settled before she faced the day nurses coming home off duty. She slipped on her cloak and went out of the house softly, and to escape the landlady's attentions Joan went hastily toward Lancaster's house.

She had passed it almost daily on her journeys to and from the hospital. It was an ordinary brick house in a new block at the north end of the park, and commonplace enough, but now, to her excited eyes, it seemed to radiate the grim personality of its owner in the staring windows, with the shining door knobs of brass, and the brass name plate. Her heart was beating with panic, and it was with difficulty that she contrived to press the bell and to remain until the door was opened.

A white attendant confronted her—a tall, underlined man with square shoulders, who scowled at her as he stood blocking the passage.

"Doctor Lancaster?" asked Joan.

"He doesn't see patients after five," answered the man.

"I must see him. It is important," faltered the girl.

"Well, I'll find out if he can see you," the fellow grumbled. "Walk in."

If you want to."

Joan had not recognized Joan's uniform beneath the cloak. She gave him her card and went into the waiting room. There the sense of the terror which made that place its domain, the accumulated fears of all who had ever waited there for the approaching verdict, seemed to leap out at her.

CAPSTAN LOSES FIRST GAME FOR PURSE OF $100

In a game at South Conestoga last evening, played for a purse of $100, the Stewart baseball club defeated Capstan Glass, 6-5. The game was the first of a series, the second to be played Monday evening at Stewart.

Alexander started the game but he had an off-day and this coupled with a sore arm, allowed visiting batters to fatten their averages slightly. Four hits were secured in that many innings. At bat in the fourth round he was hit by a pitched ball, it striking near the elbow of his throwing arm. He was relieved by Mooreman in the fifth. Jeff allowed two safe bases.

The game was called in the seventh, with the visitors at bat. At that time the sacks were crowded and two were out.

The first score was made by Stewart in the third frame. Capstan went ahead in the fourth, tallying twice and then added another in the fifth. Stewart got busy and tied things up with two runs in the same frame. Capstan again scored two more in the sixth and Stewart went ahead by getting three runs in their half of that stanza.

Of Interest to Fans.

The big race for the pennant in the National League took a sudden change yesterday and today is tighter than ever, with the Pirates down in third place and the hand of fate still to move any of the three teams—New York, Pittsburgh or Brooklyn—from their present positions to first, second or third, as the results of the afternoon play today are determined.

New York is still resting on top of the pile but by and by a great margin it is no longer safe. The lovely Philadelphia did the unexpected yesterday and bumped off the league leaders in the fourth frame when Cy Williams smashed a home run over the right field wall while the bases were jammed and none were out. The score was 10-5.

Brooklyn kept up its dizzy pace, winning another double-header, again over the Braves. The Buccos lost to St. Louis, 3-5, for the first time this year at Forbes Field. Manager Branch Rickey arrived at Pittsburgh yesterday to take charge of his shattered forces and his re-constituted line-up did the job.

The standing today shows New York on top, three points ahead of the Dodgers, and the Pirates three points behind Brooklyn. It is anybody's race yet. The Giants, however, have played two more games than Pittsburgh and Brooklyn has played six more. This gives the Pirates the advantage in the long run.

In the American League Washington set the National capital again by pulling all further away from the Yankees in their slip and tuck chase for the hunting. The Philadelphia

Grid Candidates Given Light Workout by Coach Lerew; To Report Daily

Coker Football Men Will Find Their Mentors Pull of
"Pop" and Push.

BIG SQUAD LOOKED FOR

Coker grid candidates received a surprise yesterday afternoon when they met with Coach J. R. Lerew and Caskey Settle at the High School building and, after a talk on the season's prospects, were taken to Fayette Field for their preliminary workout. The surprise was a pleasant one, however. The boys have been waiting to get started and when the coach said he was ready to get right down to business at once they were more than pleased.

Coach Lerew, who arrived yesterday morning, said he was anxious to get out with his boys. He has been in charge of a big camp in Maine all summer and looks exceptionally healthy. He is full of "pop" and will make things lively for the gridiron candidates.

With three weeks ahead of the team before it opens its schedule the eleven should be working smoothly by the time of that game. It will allow ample opportunity for the coaches and candidates to become acquainted and also give the members time to develop just what "stuff" their squad has in it.

The team lost several studs by graduation but if hope of the coaches come true there are some likely prospects to fill these positions. Football interest has been growing by leaps and bounds. The arrival of the coaches has only served to increase this and coupled with the cool weather of the past week it has grown to a point where the only relief is action. There was a big turnout of candidates yesterday. "New" Stillwagon is back again with added poundage in weight. The young fellow closed up last season by making himself a factor in end position and opposing backfield men were learning to fear him. This should be a big season for the lad. "Bob" Hillard, another boy who looked like a corner last year, is laid up with an infected foot but he will be on deck before the season has gone very far. Earl Trump is still the very far. Earl Trump is still the same husky lad and with a year of experience behind him he may be able to show to better advantage. Leo Schuler, a speed merchant, will be able to deliver if he can put more aggressiveness into his attack. Driving tackles and vigorous punch in smashing through a tackle are his weakest points.

Another prospect whose work will be watched with interest because of his energetic spirit and undaunted nerve against bigger foes last season is young Harry Morris. The boy may, like Bob Smith did last year, make some heavier fellows sit on the bench while he holds down a line job.

Caplan Van Maratta is considerably thinner this year and this may aid to his effectiveness as he was always overweight. His work will also be watched with interest, as each season followers of the game have been waiting for him to "come through."

Carter and Joe May, other track men who are out for backfield jobs, may have the time of their lives holding them if some of the new material shows ability. There are a number of new boys, some of fine physique, coming into the school, and all have signalled their intention of trying out for the team.

One position that will have to be filled by a new man is center. Captain Boos capably held this job last year but he was lost via the graduation route. There are likely to be a number of youths after this position and as the job can be learned by one, it offers excellent opportunity for a hard worker to win a place.

Practices have been called for both Friday and Saturday afternoons. The boys are requested to wear their old clothes as no hard work will be done. School opens on Monday and from that time on the regular afternoon program will be football.

Athletics indulged in a batting spree at the expense of the league champs and the Yankees went under, 3-5. Washington toyed with Boston, winning 12-5. The Senators are now two full games ahead of New York.

It is said that down in Washington no one goes to bed until the baseball results have been heard.

In this region fans wanting to attend the world series would like to see the games played between Washington and Pittsburgh.

The double victory of the Dodgers over the Braves yesterday increased the winning streak of that club to 13 games.

Blake Adams of Pittsburgh again entered the box yesterday in the role of a relief hurler. He went into the game in the eighth and buried both that frame and the ninth.
